

Our Web Presence

Introduction

Over the past several months our 'Web Presence' has increased. This has resulted in several members raising questions such as

- Which website is ours?
- Why do I see different information?
- When I search for Severnside Ramblers, I don't find what I expect.

As a consequence, the items below should explain the various pages available on the Internet and their differences.

Rambles Central Office

(<http://www.ramblers.org.uk/go-walking/group-finder/areas/avon/groups/severnside.aspx>)

As part of a digital programme embarked upon by Ramblers Central Office web pages have been created covering each Area and Group within the organisation providing basic information including details of up and coming walks. Contact details for each group are listed such that any potential new members understand how to contact the group for further information. Information is limited on these pages. A link is provided on the page which directs users to our own website where further information can be found. An example layout of the central office page can be seen below.
